2014 National Junior Golf Development Centres

The National Junior Golf Development Centre (NJGDC) initiative was established to recognize facilities that are offering a first class experience for children aged 5-18. They support and run nationally endorsed programs, they have trained and certified golf professionals and are linked to schools in their communities. If there is a National Junior Golf Development Centre within your area, this is a great facility to look at closely as it will offer everything from introduction to the sport all the way to competitive play. All of the parties involved are dedicated to making these locations state-of-the-art facilities that offer a welcoming atmosphere for juniors of all levels. 2013 was a very successful year for the NJGDC initiative across Canada with 25 site locations being established across 7 different provinces – all supported by PGA of Canada coaches trained under the Coach New Competitor context. With the 2014 golf season fast approaching, we fully anticipate that you have started to plan for the upcoming season. Please see below for registration information for 2014.

Benefits

At the end of 2013, 25 JGDCs were fully registered across Canada. Each centre is provided with LTPD compliant programming to use as a guide in addition to being recognized as a best in class junior golf development facility in Canada. Golf Canada will increase marketing efforts to support programming at the NJGDC facility. A library of resources to assist in providing best in class programming will also be available for each Development Centre.
